BOTH WEARY OF LIFE.

On Young Men Shoots Himself; Another Attempts Suicide with Poisoning Gun.

Christian Atkinson, a tenor singer in the choir of St. Augustine's Church on Jefferson street, and a son of Charles Atkinson, who has charge of the chapel of the Comforter at St. Vincent's Hospital. The surgeon found yesterday by shooting himself in the temple. Mr. Atkinson has had charge of the chapel for the past fourteen years, and lived there with his family. Young Atkinson was 21 years old, and up to Tuesday was in the employ of the United Manufacturing Company.

It was about 8 o'clock yesterday morning when Mr. Atkinson called his son. Getting no response, he opened the door. The young man was seated on a chair by the window.

"Why didn't you answer me?" inquired his father.

The other made no reply, and Mr. Atkinson walked up to him to shake him. Then he discovered a small stream of blood trickling from a wound in the right temple. By the side of the chair lay a five-chambered revolver, one of which had been exploded. A policeman responded to Mr. Atkinson's cry for aid, and an ambulance was summoned from St. Vincent's Hospital.

The young man was still alive. He was taken to the hospital, where he died in the afternoon.

No reason is given for the young man's suicide, but it is said that he had been suffering for some time from a nervous ailment. He was a confirmed cigarette smoker. No one had heard of him for some time before he was discovered.

Another man, who lived at the lodging house at 1110 Third avenue, attempted suicide yesterday morning by turning on the gas. A policeman found him lying on the floor, and a doctor was summoned.

He was working on a farm in New Jersey. He had come to New York to look for employment, but he had been unsuccessful. He was found by a policeman who was on duty in the neighborhood.

He was taken to the hospital, but he died in the afternoon.

The police are looking for the man who shot himself, but they have not yet found him.

ANNIE KROLACH'S ASSAILANT.

He Was Her Employer's Coachman, and Says He Was Mad from Jealousy.

New City, N. Y., May 12.—Abram L. Dias, who assaulted Annie Krolach, has been captured and placed in the New City jail. The criminal was seen by Detective Fisher this morning creating an open field south of the Erie tracks, between Nassau and Spring Valleys. He attempted to run, but was soon caught by Fisher and taken to Robert A. Wiedman's house. Here it was decided to bring Dias to New City before the news of his capture became known, as a mob of angry men were looking for him with the intention of lynching him if caught. Dias has confessed, and says he was mad from jealousy of August Streich, the accepted lover of Miss Krolach.

The girl is employed as a domestic by Mrs. Robert A. Wiedman, near Nassau, and had been sent to the barn to milk the cows. She remained longer than usual, and Mr. Wiedman, who was in search of her, found her unconscious. The young woman's mouth was stuffed full of hay, and a large handkerchief had been bound around the head and over the mouth. He called for Dias, his coachman, but the man did not respond. Then he summoned Detective Fisher, who with the assaillants by telling her husband that the domestic had confessed to having threatened to murder him. The girl had told her mistress that only a few nights before, when she had driven to Spring Valley together, Dias had pleaded hard to have her consent to be married, and that she told him she had refused her word to another.

With a clue to the guilty man Mr. Wiedman sent for Constable Pugsley, who with a number of men to search for the missing coachman. August Streich, the accepted lover of Miss Krolach, joined the party with the expressed determination to lynch his brutal rival.

Lodge Treasurer and Treasury Missing.

Otto Franz of 231 West Thirty-fifth street told Inspector McLaughlin yesterday that Gustave Wittenberg, Treasurer of Jefferson Lodge, Ancient Order of Good Fellows, of which Franz is Grand Master, had been missing since April 29. On that day Wittenberg received a check for $600 to pay a death claim. The proceeds of this check, Franz said, Wittenberg had kept, and he had also taken $200 belonging to the lodge. He had sold out of his barbershop at 510 West Forty-third street, and his wife declared that she was pregnant. The lodge meets at the West Side Labor Lyceum in West Forty-second street.

No charge for any necessary alterations made in any of these suits.
